USER RESEARCH

Mobile App Research Plan Case Study

Background:

Travel is a much-loved pastime and a way to explore other cultures and corners of the world. Due to the pandemic, peoples' ability to travel has been greatly hindered and has changed into something different where no one's quite sure when it will return to "normal" or whether it's changed permanently and now this is the new normal.

Goals:

To build an app that provides the traveler with useful tools and information that helps them navigate through this new era of traveling during pandemics.

Research Questions:

- What can we do to help the user return to traveling again?
- What are the traveler's pain points with regards to travel during a pandemic?
- What is the user's comfort zone and tolerance with travel restrictions, delays, and observance of public health regulations (such as social distancing, wearing masks, etc.)?
- How can this app help the user navigate all the new rules with travel today and begin to enjoy it again?

Mobile App Research Plan Case Study (continued)

Methodology:

We will conduct user interviews (up to five). A survey built with a selection of our interview questions will be posted on social media to gain with greatest breadth of participants with various backgrounds, etc.

Participants:

The ideal participants will be adults between the ages of 30-55, who have full lives with family and careers and who carve out time in their busy schedules to travel a few times a year. They're not in the position to quit their jobs to travel nomadically but rather they want to maximize their travel experiences in the limited time they have available.

Proto Persona

Interview Plan & Questions

Hi, my name is Cathy. Nice to meet you. How are you doing today? Would you take a moment to answer some questions for me? It's for a class assignment and it will only take 10 minutes.

1. Use the five why's
2. What will make you feel safe to travel again?
3. Tell about yourself? What do you do? Your hobbies?
4. Describe how the pandemic affected your holiday plans over the last year?
5. How covid affected you mentally? To come out of stress, what do you do? Will travel help to improve your mental health?
6. What kind of places did you visit before the pandemic and what would you like to visit after the pandemic or once it started to drop?
7. Could you describe your recent experience where you decided to travel by yourself or reaching out to local travel services instead of using online services?
8. Tell me about the application you use for holiday booking?
9. Walk me through your process of planning and booking international flights/lodging.
10. How many days do you think it's better to spend your vacation?
11. Do you like to travel and spend your holidays on a vacation trip?
12. When booking travel online, can you recall anything that would cause you to stop the process mid-way through?
13. What is something that would make your decision simpler/easier making when booking travel?
14. Your expectations on staying? Like, what kind of hotels or rooms you were looking for before and after the pandemic?
15. Does budget is your main concern or it play a role to influence your vacation?
16. Interactions related to product:
17. Why are you using this app? What made you use that?
18. Do you use your app every time you travel?
19. Did you try any other App or Website other than this?
20. What do you think is missing in the app? What kind of features do you want or think can be added so that it will be helpful?
21. Could you demonstrate how you use the app to book your holiday vacation?

User Insight Statement

Users need to travel more than ever post-pandemic yet many still feel nervous about traveling long distances and abroad. With restrictions still in place particularly at airports, many want to avoid mass transportation but still want immersive “getaway” experiences that are easily accessible by car.

Charlie Ames needs help planning local trips throughout Florida where he has full control of his environment such as his mode of transport and lodging, where he can explore all of what his new home state has to offer and feel like he's really “getting away”. Charlie also needs convenience and ease with his trips while traveling more frequently throughout the year.

Problem Statement

How might we improve travelers' search for unique off-the-grid destinations and beautiful lodging in Florida that are easily accessible by car but still feel like magical, immersive, “getaway”, experiences.

Ideation & Brainstorming

I Like

I like planning all my excursions & itinerary	I like to take shorter and more frequent road trips this year particularly in FL	I like to tie in my hobbies with my travel	I'm interested in the ease of travel	I like traveling domestically to attend tennis tournaments
I like visiting historic locations like Savannah & Charleston	Prefers taking shorter trips more frequently throughout the year. Easier w/work	I like traveling by car. It makes provides more control	I prefer small unique lodging versus a resort	I enjoy swimming and being outdoors
I likes following the "Points Guy" for good travel tips on saving $$$	I like booking directly w/airline or hotel for more travel protection w/rescheduling or canceling	I like comfort in lodging unless it's a short stay then I value convenience	I love the beach	I like privacy with my lodging
I like planning his own travel	I like to use Marriott reward points w/hotel bookings	Likes being able to contact real people by phone particularly where a refund is due. Don't trust texting or emailing	Likes renting a car through Turo, found it easy and affordable	I like have flexibility of rescheduling & canceling flight or hotels without penalties
			I prefers not to travel alone	I like flying on Southwest and always direct flights

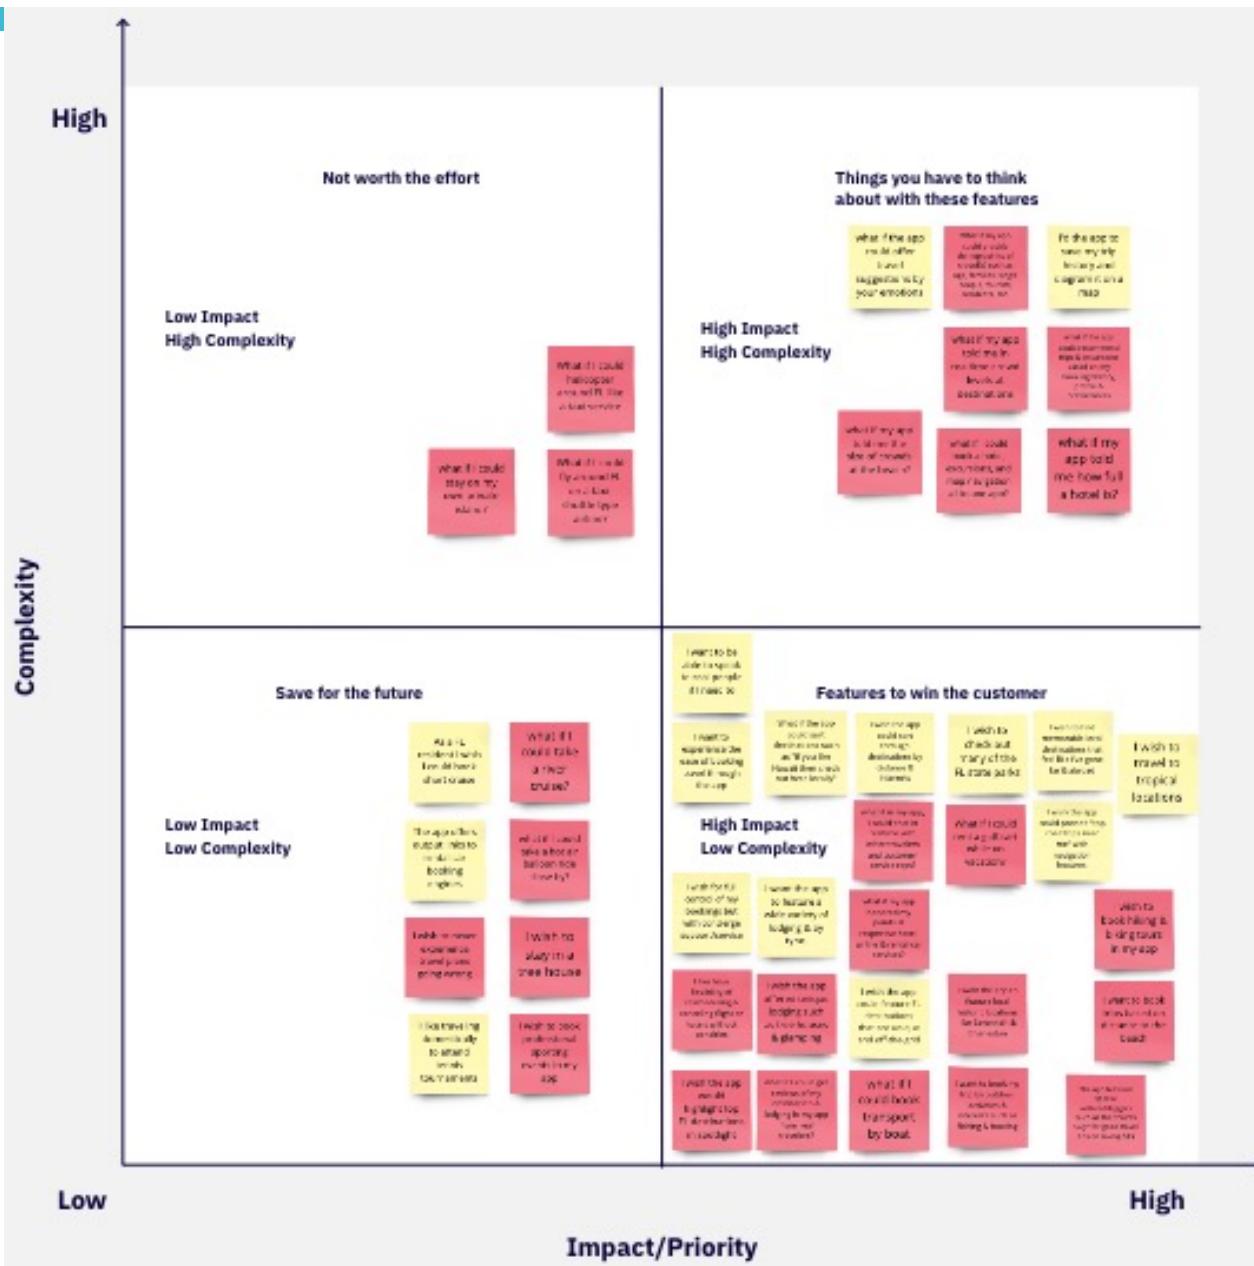

I Wish

I wish to check out many of the FL state parks	As a FL resident I wish to take a short cruise	I wish to drive throughout FL & panhandle and visit all the beaches in Destin, Mobile AL, and onto New Orleans	I wish to have memorable local trips that feel like I've gone far & abroad
I wish to explore FL to learn more about her new state	I wish to take more day trips and do things locally such as play tennis	I wish for a balance between a busy vacation and relaxing, not overtly planned	I wish to travel to tropical locations
I wish to go to Germany and Holland for soccer tournaments post-pandemic	I wish to find unique off-the-grid destinations in FL	I wish to find unique off-the-grid destinations in FL	what if I could take a river cruise?
I wish to find travel somewhere locally similar to Hawaii	I wish to find travel somewhere locally similar to Dominican Republic	I wish to never experience travel plans going wrong	What if my app could provide demographics of crowd(s) such as age, families, single people, tourists, residents, etc.
I wish to go glamping somewhere near the beach or springs	I wish to stay in a tree house	I wish to go hiking & biking in FL state parks	what if in my app, I could chat in realtime with other travelers and customer service reps?

What If

What if I could fly around FL on a taxi-shuttle type airline?	What if I could rent a golf cart while on vacation?	what if I could get somewhere in FL quickly and by boat	What if my app could helicopter around FL like a taxi service
what if I could take a hot air balloon ride close by?	what if I could book a hotel, excursions, and map navigation all in one app?	what if my app told me in realtime crowd levels at destinations	what if my app told me in realtime crowd levels at destinations

Feature Prioritization Matrix

Value Proposition

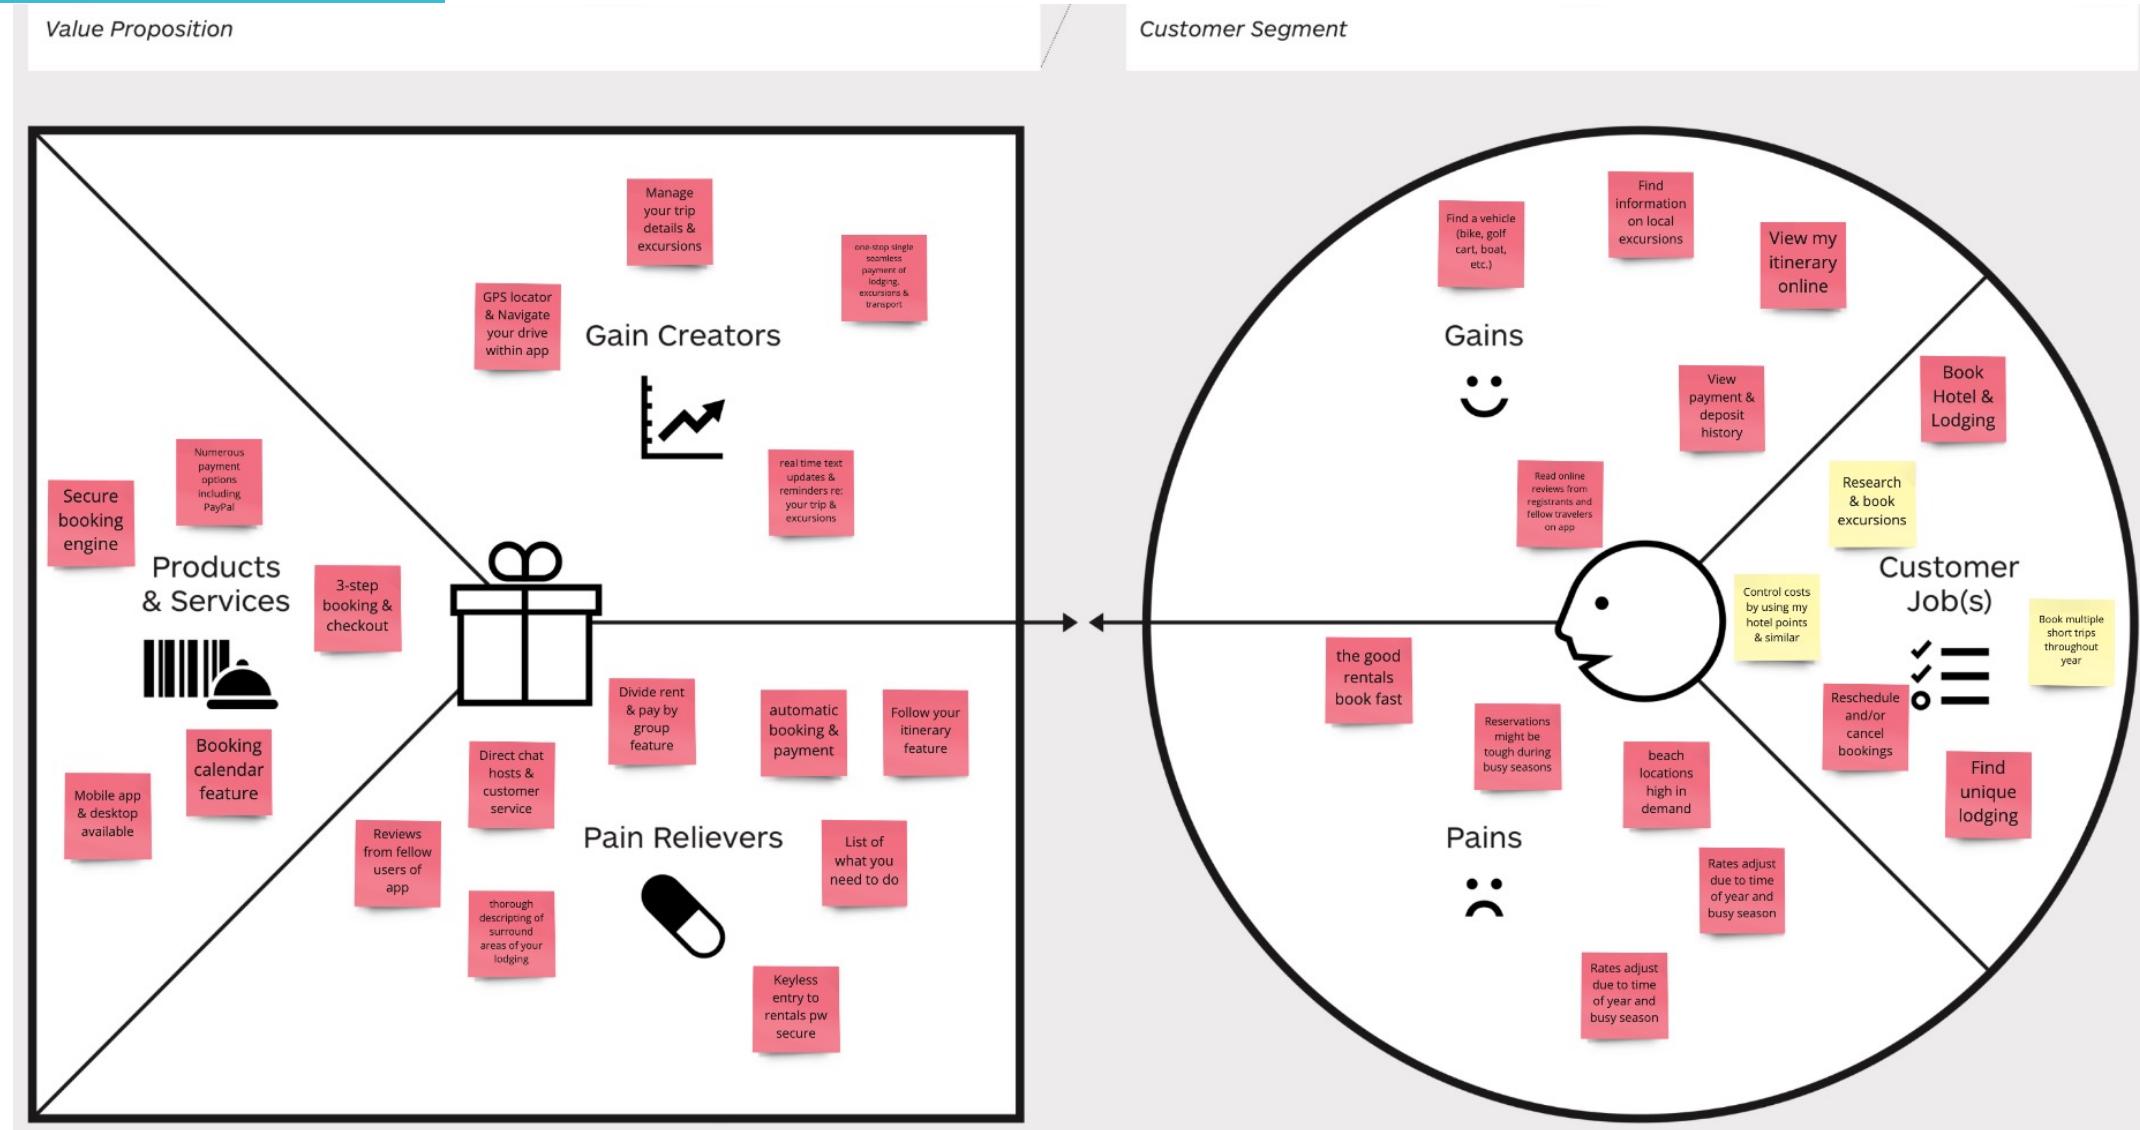

Get Ready to Escape Without Leaving Your Home State You Live in Paradise...Why Not Vacation at Home

My organization is developing FLo-Loco an app that helps local travelers in FL & the Southeast to find immersive unique destinations all within driving distance in and around Florida.

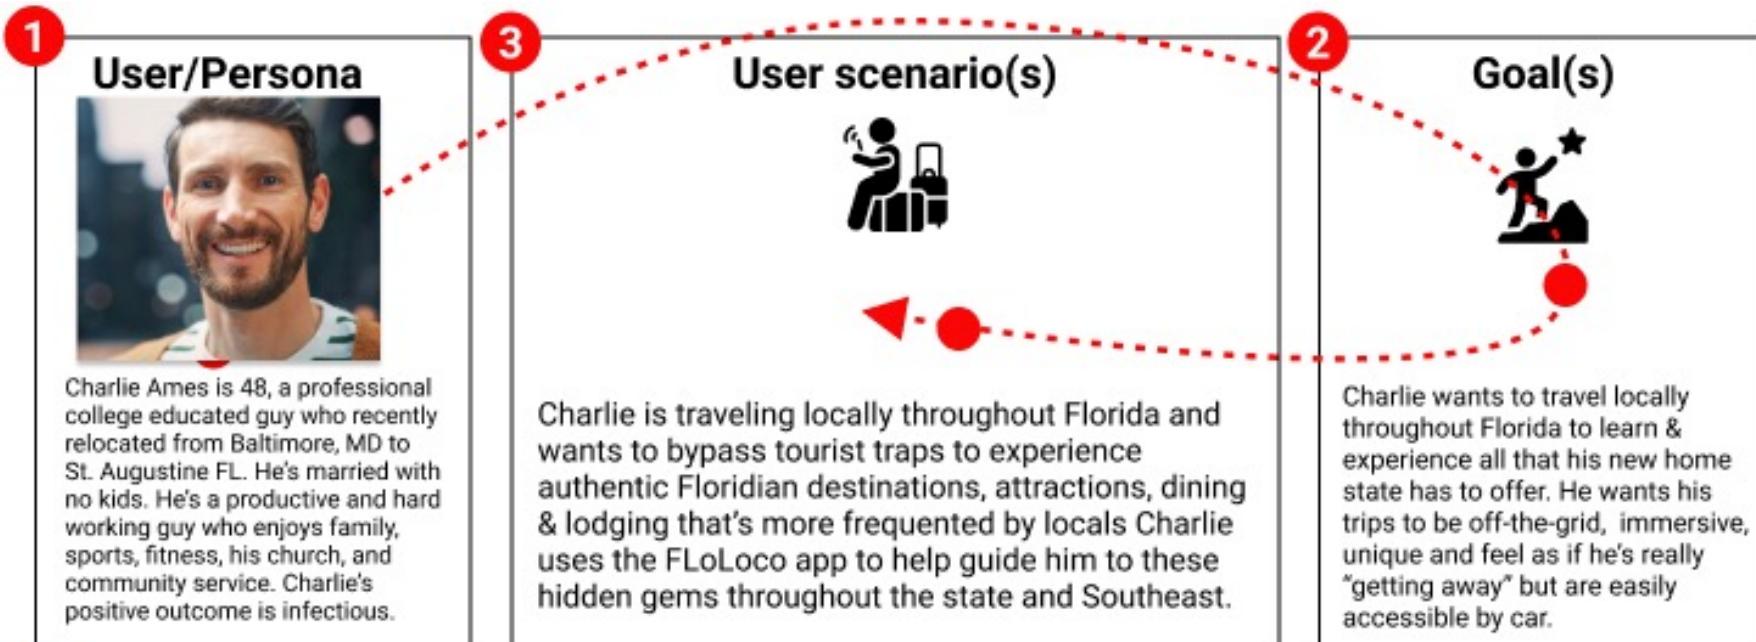

We're better because we're Floridians and avid travelers who know where to find the best and hidden spots in the state.

We're believable because we send you to places we like to visit & stay ourselves.

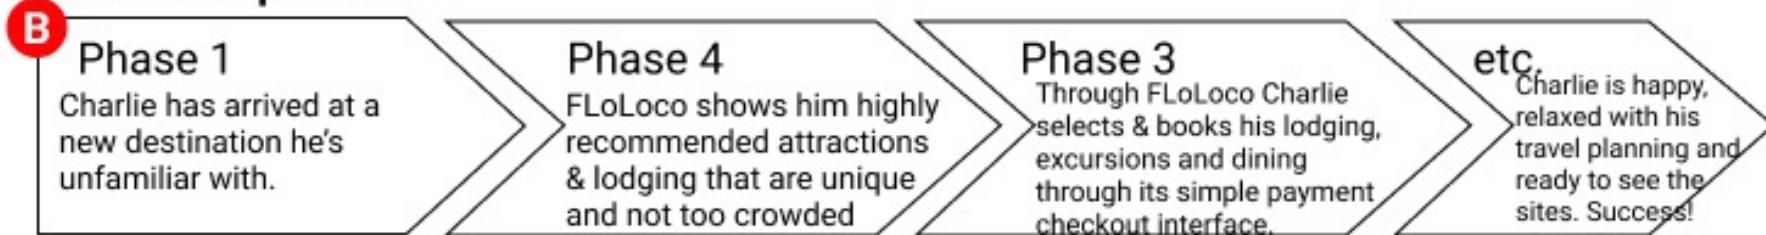

Value Proposition Canvas

User Scenario

Scenario phases

Storyboard

Charlie is in desperate need of a vacation. But during the pandemic, he dreads flying and waiting in airports with all the public health restrictions.

Charlie and his wife want to get away but somewhere local that's easily accessible by car. They're new to FL and want to experience all that their home state has to offer.

Charlie launches FLoLoco to see where they can go visit in FL.

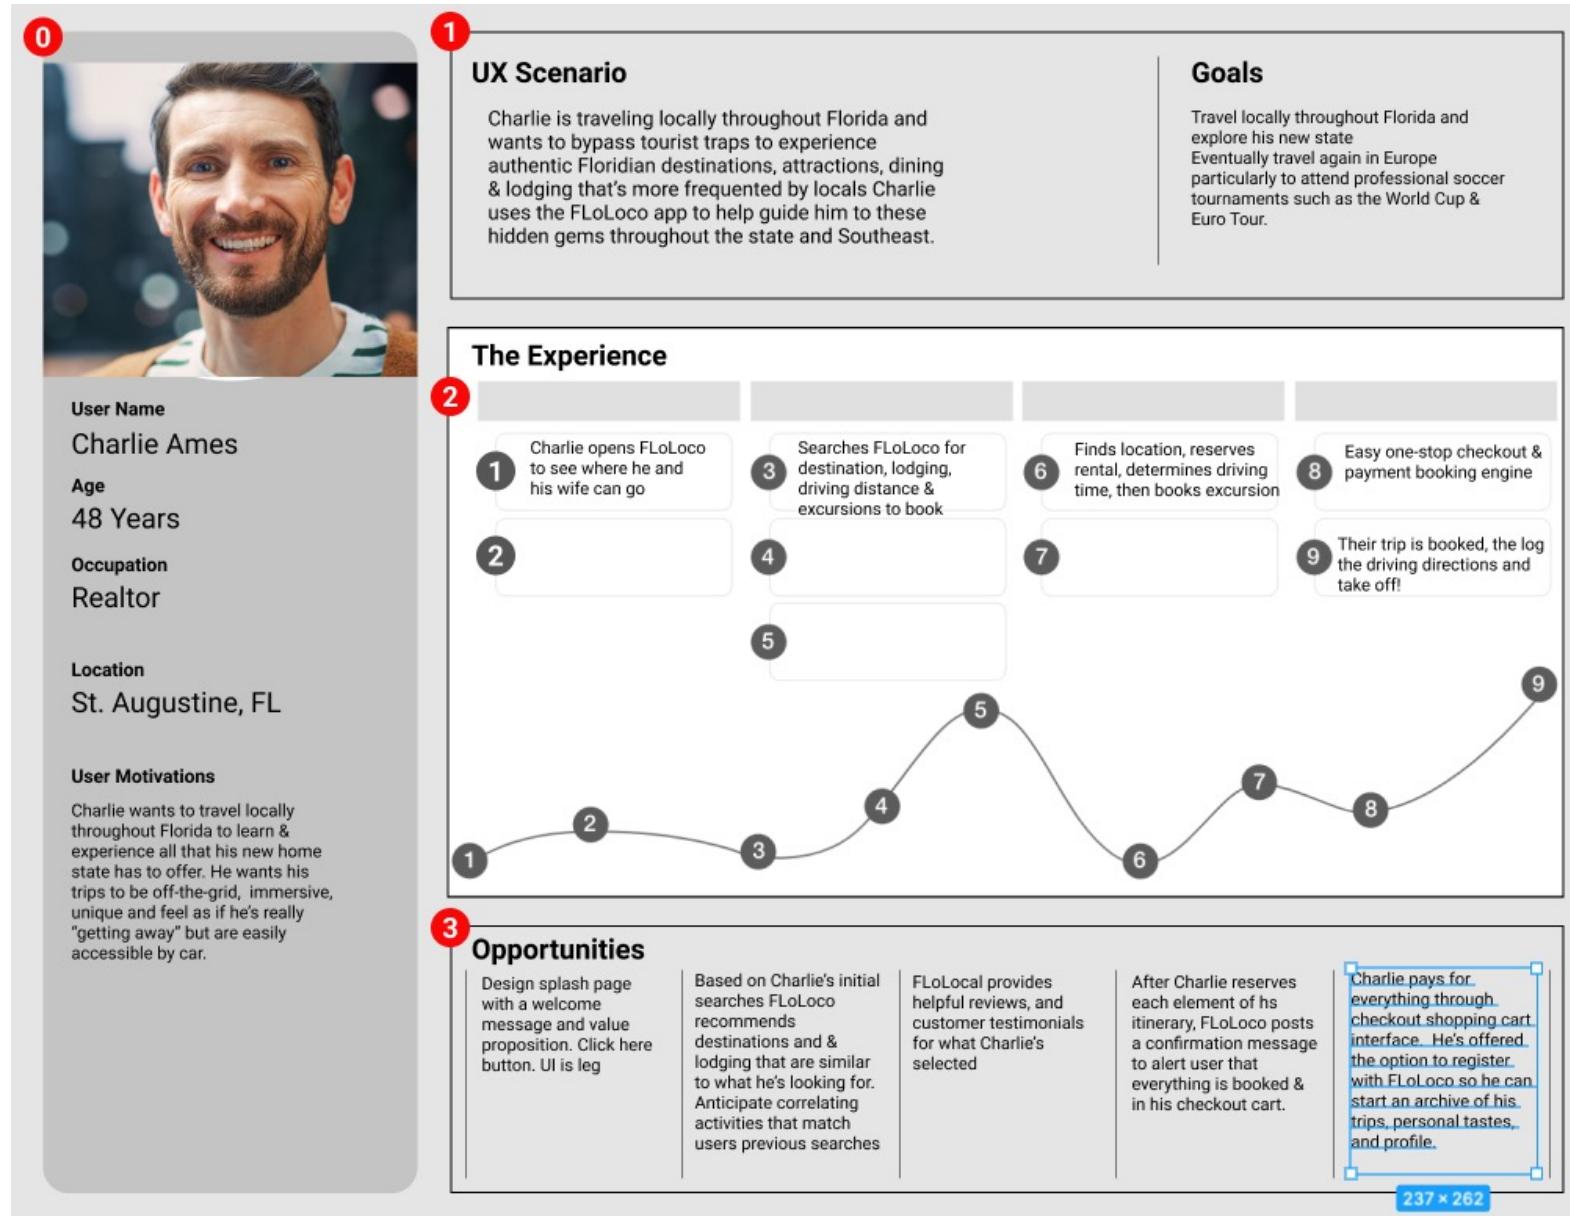

Charlie finds an amazing house rental near the shore on Cedar Key Island. Drive time = less than 3 hours. He then books a sunset cruise for two. Reservation and single payment all in one app.

Charlie and his wife are relaxed and happy!

VisitFlorida.com	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> App uses a lot of hot pink...maybe too much. Much more than their website. Hamburger navigation with accordion drop down menu. Deals portion of the responsive website/app is the only section on the site that provides engagement with joining the site, booking a vacation, and setting up an account. Share Link in top navigation available to post on social media VisitFlorida.com is the state tourism official website and is not-for-profit. The search functionality that doesn't consistently provide accurate results. Popular links is hidden in top navigation under the "more" tab. Booking engine not available on site. Featured lodging & vacation packages are limited with third party providers where they're offloading the booking on another travel site. Advanced Search filters under "Deals" isn't robust. The "Plan Your Visit" mapping interface is not available on app view, just the website. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Both an app and responsive website phone view are available. App immediately loads with splash welcome tutorial pages with product set-up permissions Sign-up/login was easy to set up. All checkboxes are clicked "on" so you have to uncheck them to run filters. Add favorites get loaded to "My Plans" profile page where the user is directed to a sign-up screen where you can either use your Facebook or Apple login, or set up a unique login for the app. "My Plans" screen provided in map and list views. "Start Plan" button prominently placed and bottom center of screen A "Guest" mode app view is also provided Home screen pre-loads with left-sided navigation open from hamburger menu button. Destinations and beach screens provide beautiful scrolling photo gallery where the distance from your location is noted at the top right of each photograph. Day trip suggestions featured. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> There's a #LOVEFL STORIES page where they list customer reviews from social media posts. Many reviews are listed all lost like a social media feed. Travelers' photos are sometimes included with the testimonials. Gives it a personal "real world" touch. Testimonials only available on responsive website and not within the app. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Beautiful Homepage but very few links to direct user to an action. The few links on page just takes the user to additional informational pages. Primary color of UI app (deep pink) is pleasing to the eye, feels tropical, and compliments the photography that's mainly blue, green and tan - often depicting the beach, blue skies and/or plant life.

Splash screens too much pink

Clear product set up permissions
pop-up windows

Beautiful scenic photos that take up entire width of screen in scrolling gallery. User gets a sense of place.

User can sign up with unique app-specific login or by using other login credentials
such as Facebook

Nice advanced search features but the checkboxes are all pre-checked therefore requiring the user to click them all off before making selections..

Search results can be seen both
in list and map view

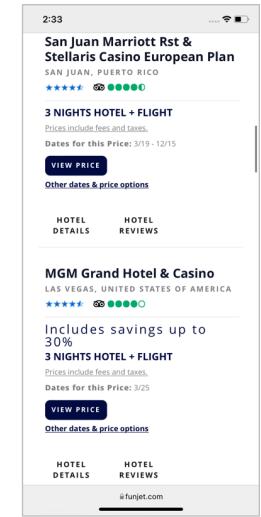

Competitor Analysis (continued Funjet.com)

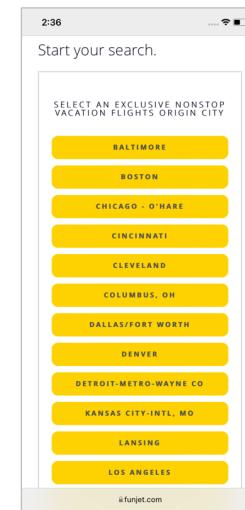

Very text heavy with no images to break up monotony of screen view.

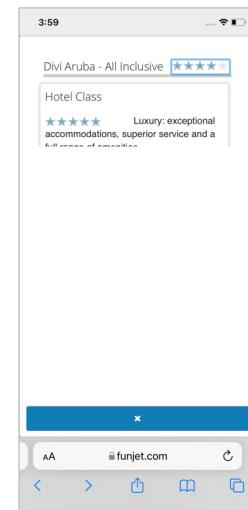

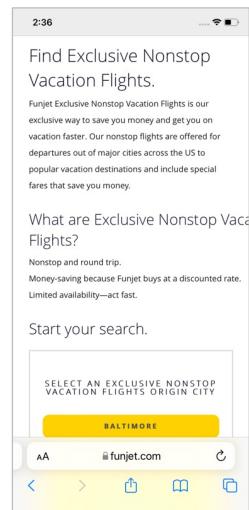

Travel results appearing without photos for point of reference. Not ideal especially for a travel app.

Lacking photography especially for a travel app.

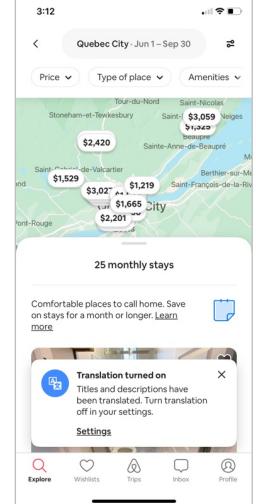

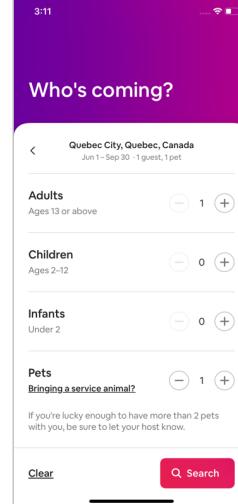

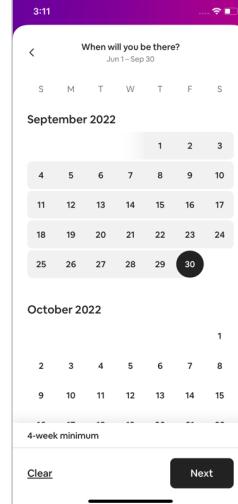

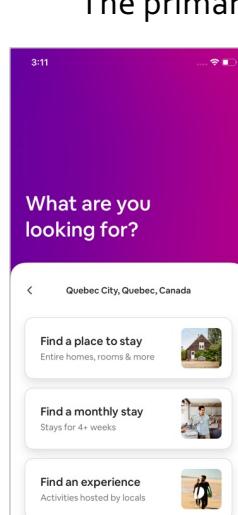

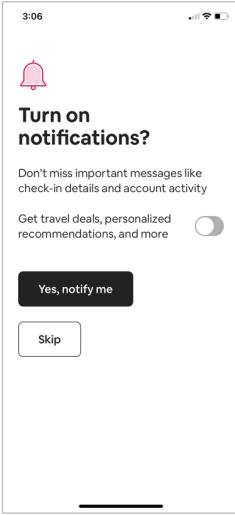

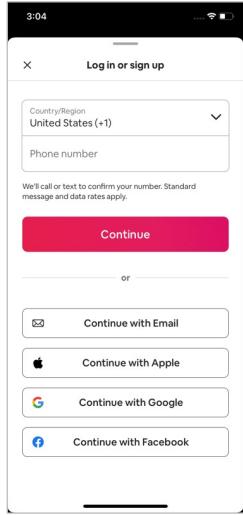

Too much yellow and too many buttons on screen view. Too busy.

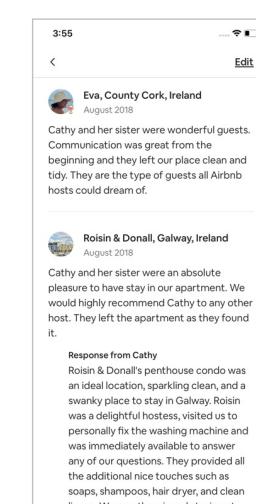

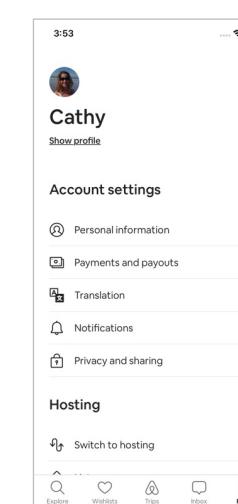

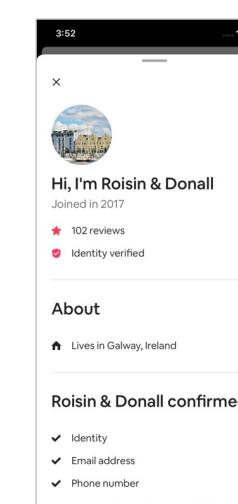

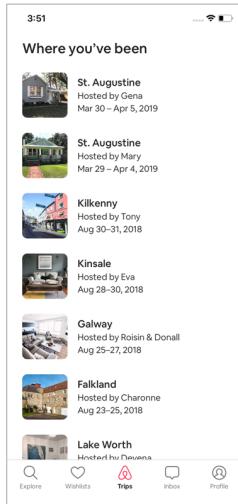

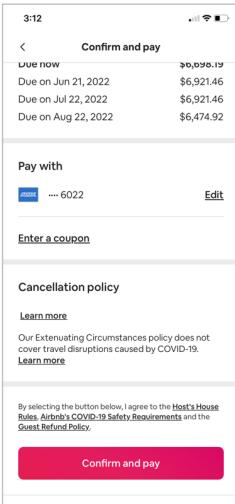

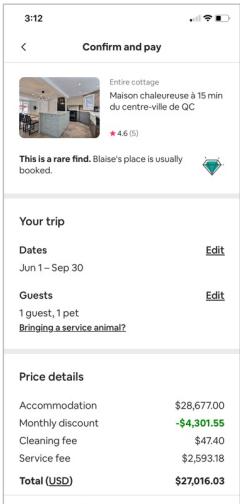

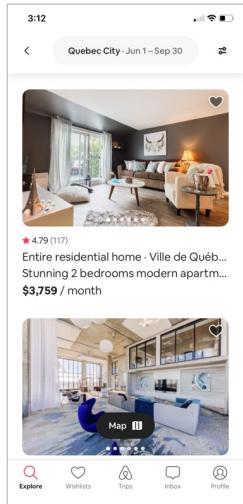

Customer review cut-off. Not legible.

Competitor Analysis (continued Airbnb.com)

Robust onboarding process with many opportunities for user engagement.

FloLoco

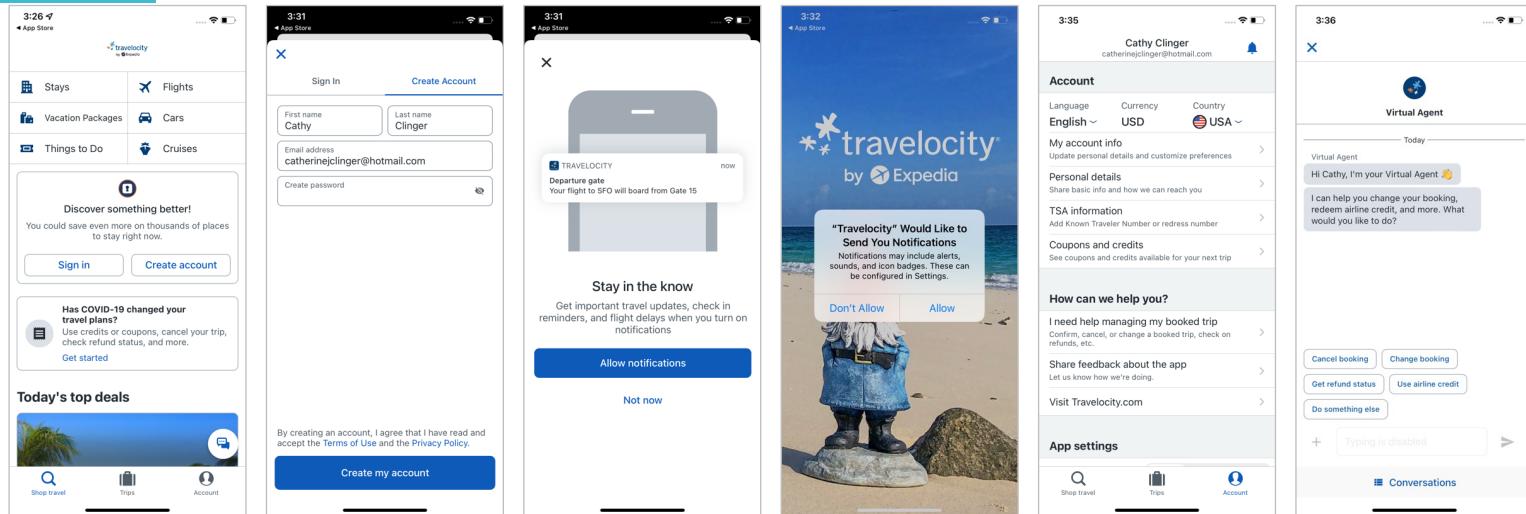

Booking interface in-depth but easy to navigate and use.

Customer & host reviews available. Easy to find within app.

The primary red color clashes with the purple/pink gradient

Competitor Analysis (continued Travelocity.com)

First screen to appear VERY busy looking. Splash screens appear after login/registration which seems out of order.

Text heavy with limited photography. Feels more like a website than an app.

Robust onboarding process with many opportunities for user engagement.

Error messages clear with use of red and gold colors.
Check-out process clear & logical. Isn't as pleasant to use versus other travel apps.

Nice use of blue for contrasting UI color.

USER TESTING

Usability Testing Plan

We tested the following FloLoco Mobile App Sections for Onboarding:

- Welcome Splash Screens
- Register for FloLoco app
- View My Trips Dashboard
- View & Select Florida Destinations by Activity or Itinerary
- View Hamburger Navigation
- Book a Hotel Room
- Checkout & Pay Online for Hotel Reservation

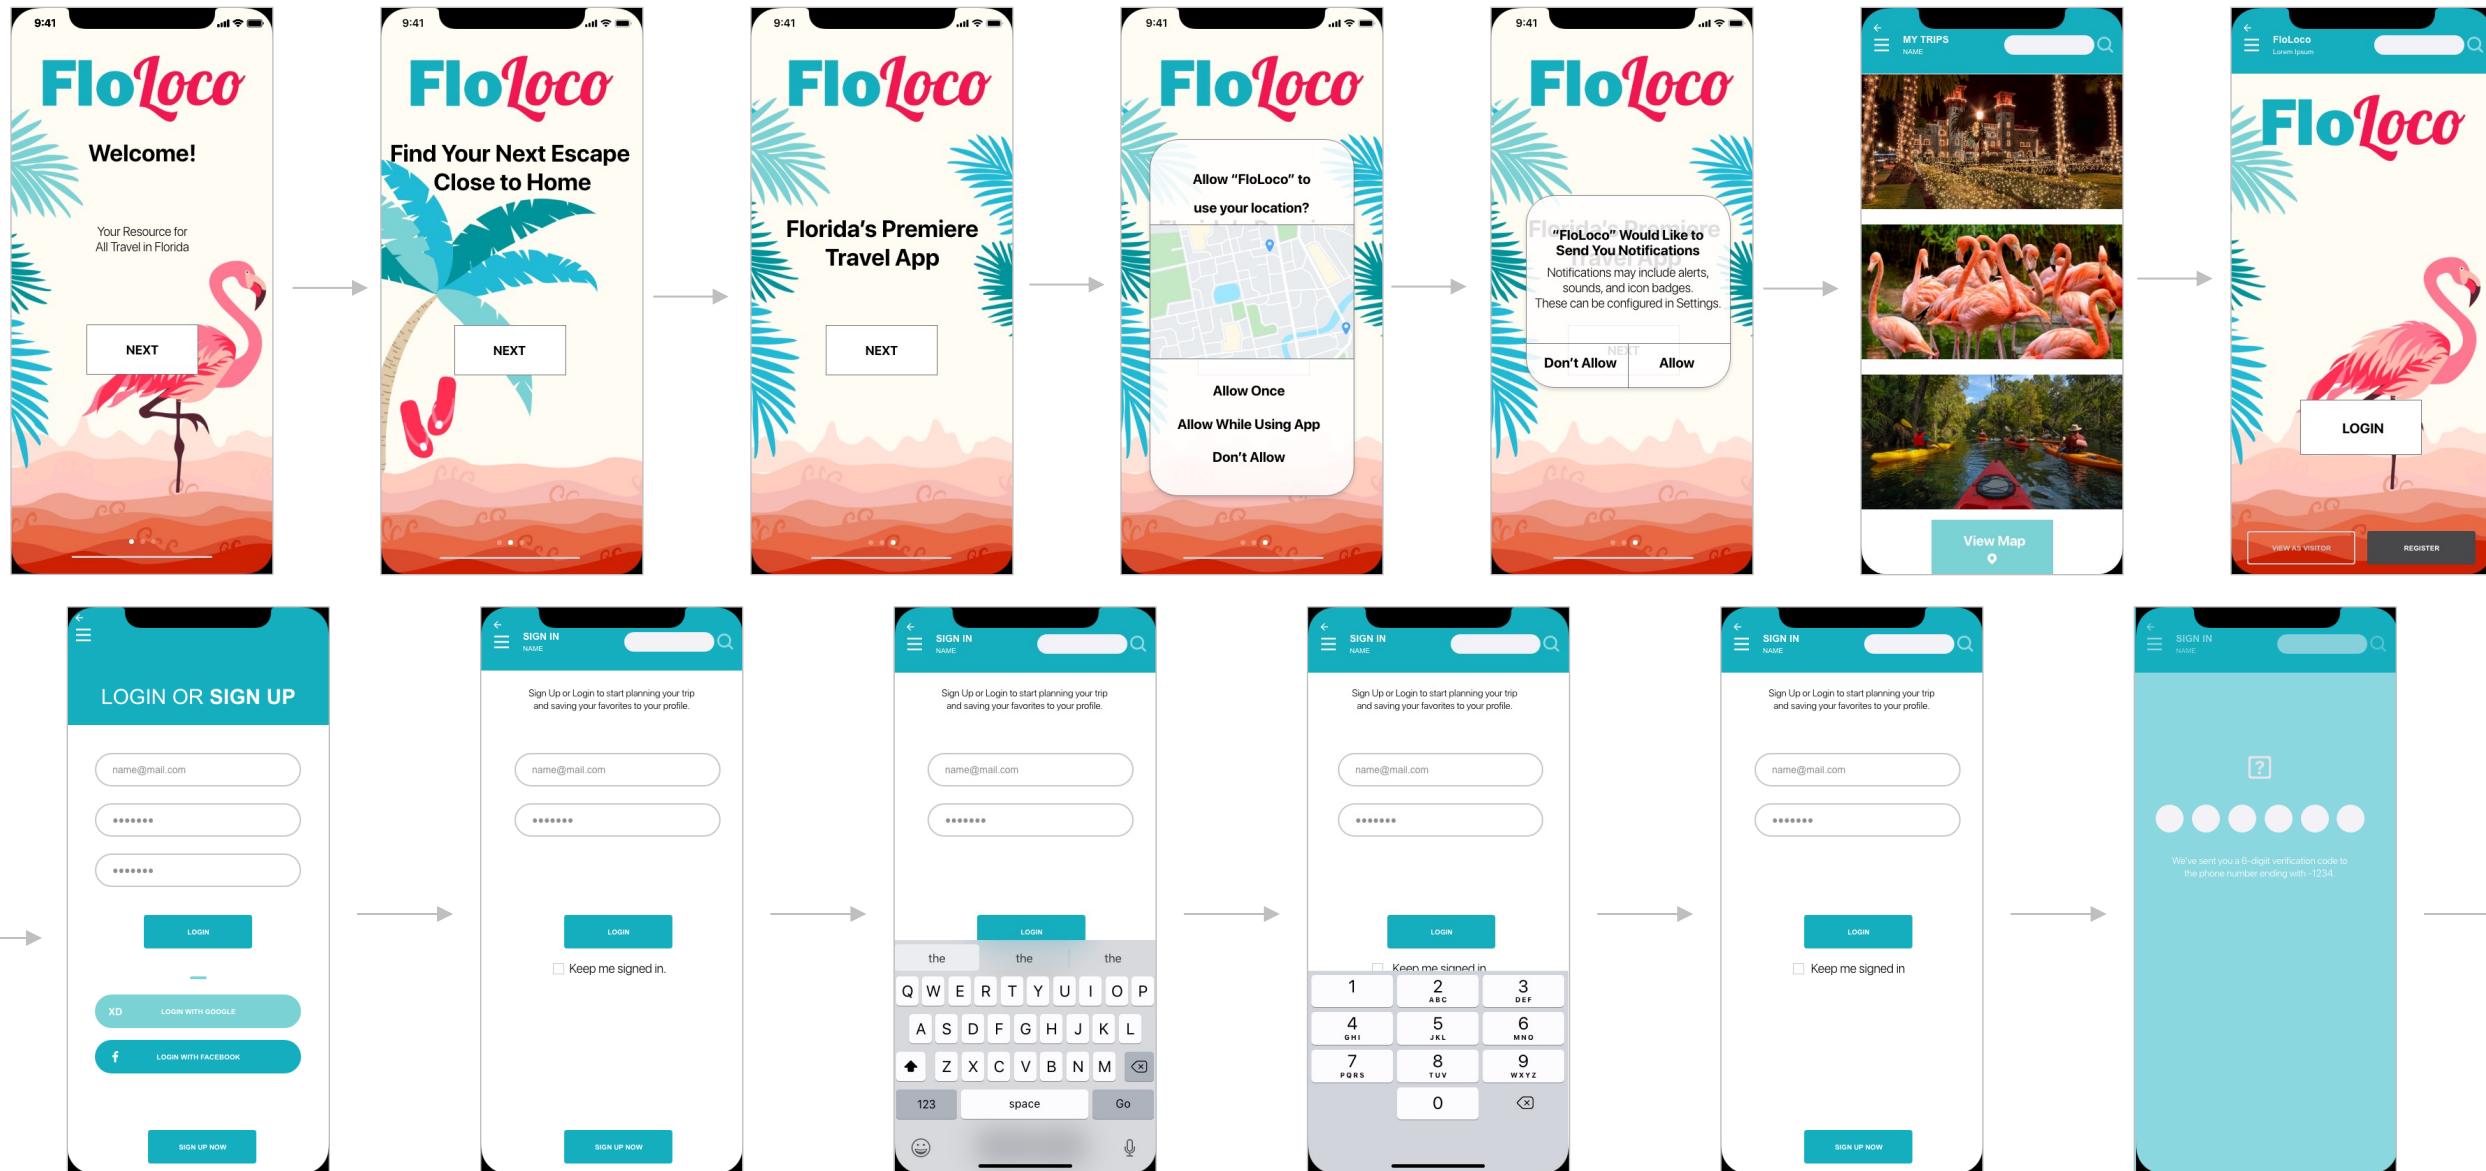

User Testing Findings

The users tested the mid-fidelity grayed-out wireframes & prototype for the FloLoco app.

More screen views were needed for onboarding, bookmarked travel ideas, hotel booking, & online payment.

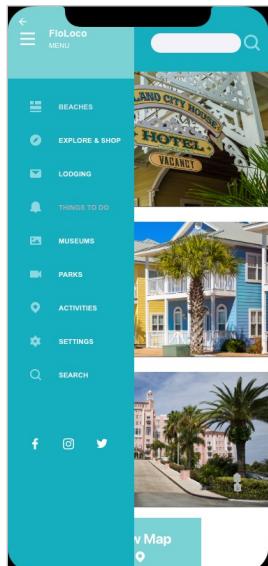

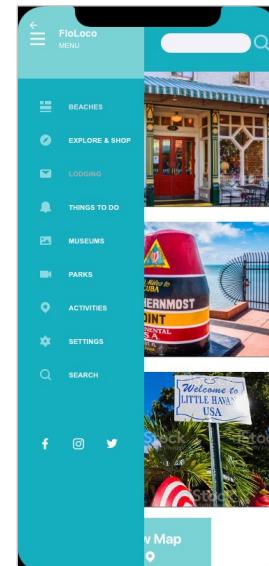

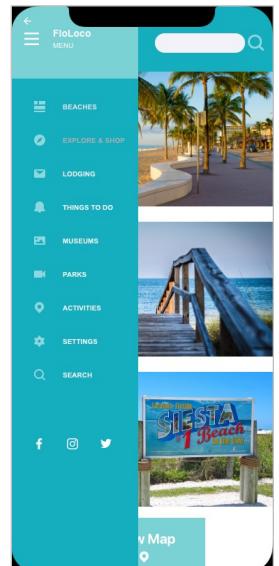

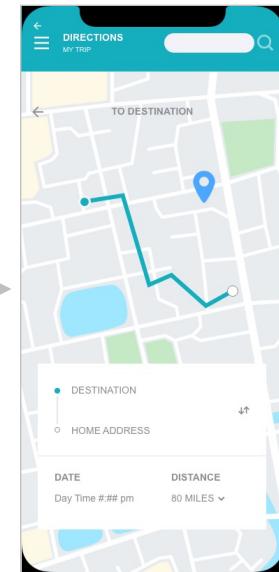

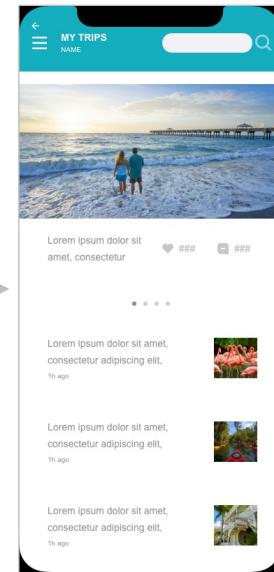

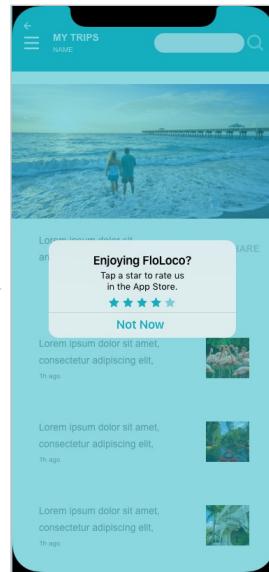

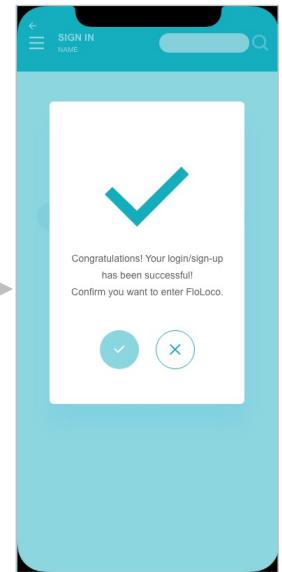

We then enhanced the wireframes by applying a color palette, typography, illustrations, photos and the FloLoco logo. Design objective was to make it immediately apparent that the user was experiencing Florida online through the app.
